Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 25 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Becoming brighter with some sunny spells.

Today:
A rather cloudy start with patchy rain but becoming brighter through the morning. Some sunny spells will develop this afternoon, the best of these across Argyll and the west. Feeling cool in the occasionally fresh northerly winds. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Some late bright or sunny spells but generally a cloudy night with some patchy rain around, this tending to die out again later. Winds turning northeasterly and easing a little. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
A few spots of rain at first, mainly east of Glasgow, otherwise a dry but rather cloudy morning. Becoming brighter, especially in the west through the afternoon. Northeasterly breeze easing. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Plenty of dry weather with sunny spells through the coming days. It will become increasingly warm with mainly light winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.